

I would like to encourage you to keep the current media consolidation rules rather than loosening them.

It concerns me greatly to think that one company could own so many radio or television companies.